

Nathalie Cohen

The originality of kinetic art is not only the introduction of scientific technology in art. It carries a mutation in the artwork. Complexity that characterizes kinetic overflows when the traditional categories of painting and sculpture. It has acquired new dimensions: spatial, temporal, dynamic, resulting from energy processes implemented by the artist

Its development is carried out by a modification lively environment (sound, light, color).

To accomplish this, the artist must require, by a clever psychological aggression, active involvement of the viewer, who is now involved in the creative process.

Nathalie Cohen was born in Casablanca in 1970. After being the managing director of a company during fifteen years, she decides to concentrate to her great passion since many years : kinetic Art .

Completely involved in this art of movement study, and thanks to a very meticulous technic, combining geometry and mathematics, she creates a fascinating piece of art.

This tremendous work characterizes by a game of overlapping visual effects where precision mixes with depth and movement.

Her methacrylate installations are a real troubling experience for the eyes who are actively solicited.

Always in search of new techniques colors and shapes, Nathalie Cohen invites us in a new dimension constructed by these great visual effects.

Exploring various kinds of materials such as glass, wood, mirrors and light this artist «plasticienne » plays with transparency and contrast.

The whole work of Nathalie is really a dazzling puzzle.

Black and white pieces with a complicated graphism are next to explosive colorful pictures.

They all invite us to dive into a complex and astonishing universe : third dimension.
