

Robbert Fortgens

As if born to be an abstract expressionist, Fortgens creates in his paintings a gesture that encloses composition, movement and emotion. He does not claim complicated games of form and color, looking for balance of opposite forces.

For Fortgens, everything can be expressed in this only and dynamical element that appears to flow on a background of color and texture. He becomes part of the artwork through the movement of his body-arm-paintbrush on a canvas.

Body (action) and mind (creation) meet in this element, as well as gesture and decision, passion and concept.

Robbert Fortgens was born in 1960 in Utrecht.

He works in Ljmuiden, near Amsterdam where he lives. Since his young age he is devoted to his painting, finishing his school degrees in Art. Holland, Belgium, France or Spain are countries where He works and where his work is shown regularly
