"Growing up in a artistic and musical family, I have always been around records and music collections and as a music lover and as a visual artist I have always been attracted to the different designs and the beauty of these records collections that together form abstract compositions of colors and shapes.
This visual effect along with the different associations we all have with the music to be found inside these sleeves turns these photomontages in to personal voyages of emotions and memories. Making new connections through images and sound that has a different, but strong emotional meaning for all of us despite age, generation, race, or gender. I have different documented collections of friends, family members and public vintage collections around the world. I mix, build and compose new sets digitally.
I stage a new outlet of collective memory going beyond plastic and beautiful imagery full of abstractions, colors and patterns"
