Press Release

The African continent is a real paradise for nature lovers, even if it is more endangered than ever. And in particular for the wildlife that inhabits it, the vegetation of the nature reserves, those places where one dreams of one day immersing oneself in order to discover the big cats, elephants, and giraffes in their natural environment. This is the case of our artists who, because they have lived there or simply because these landscapes also fascinate them, are inspired by the multiple beauties of this unique continent. I bless the rains down in Africa...
