Press Release

Science is an adventure. An adventure of progress, discovery and an insatiable thirst for understanding. It is what drives us forward, urging us to observe, experiment and question the world around us. From physics to metaphysics, from the study of living organisms to the mysteries of the universe, every discovery paves the way for the next. An apple that reveals gravity, a lever that multiplies force, an abacus that brings mathematics to life… The simplest mechanisms are often the key to the most profound theories. This week, our selection celebrates the magic of science: the magic that transforms curiosity into knowledge and observation into wonder.
